Pearl's Corporate Commitment

Pearl Aircraft and its management strongly believe that an important part of life is giving back to others. And this applies to corporate as well as personal life. Consequently, annually we will give 5% of our profits to charitable ventures.

As a new company we are currently defining the mechanisms for both decision-making and appropriate priorities for this giving. At the moment the Board of Managers will make these decisions. Each member of that Board has a broad range of international experience to bring to bear on this process, but over the next few months we will develop further mechanisms for decision-making. Our initial thinking is that perhaps this will include creating a separate high-level Board of Advisors to consult with us and eventually to make the decisions about the best uses of our corporate philanthropy.

Our initial thinking is that since the aircraft industry has such broad impact around the world we should first focus on those countries where we do business. Moreover, we will look for ways that we could leverage our direct contribution to obtain additional value from our business partners and lessees.

At this time, it is not our intent to create a separate charity, but to contribute to well-established existing organizations. We will apply the same sense of entrepreneurship, creativity and concern for detail to our charitable actions as we do to our business. We anticipate that our business success will create a meaningful sum that can truly make a substantial impact. Sam Brown has been designated to lead this effort on behalf of the Board of Managers.

Subject: Mandate Termination

Jacob:

The entire NAC management team and myself appreciate the hard work your team put in over the last 5 days but NAC's current circumstance with JAL requires some other moves in order to maintain the pending purchase of aircraft. NAC will send you a more formal letter but this communication serves to notify you that Global BTG's mandate to represent NAC has been terminated effective immediately. Please do not make any calls for or on behalf on NAC at this time. Please notify your contacts of the same.

Your work was appreciated but you were aware of the objective this week. NAC must have something affirmative for JAL ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and support and NAC is happy to recommend your firm to other potential clients. Sorry this situation just did not work out.

Sincerely,
